CAMBRIDGE HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOL

Dedication

We, the Senior Class of 1942 respectfully dedicate our Year Book to

TIMOTHY F. DOWNEY

His kindly guidance as Freshman Master will always be one of the most pleasant memories of our four years at C. H. L. S.

We extend him our best wishes for a long and happy tenure as Head Master.

TIMOTHY F. DOWNEY
Headmaster

Prologue

"I have had my playmates, I have had my companions,
In my days of childhood, in my joyful school days.
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces."

In the inevitable separation, our friendships and associations will grow dim. Here through the medium of the printed page, we relive the memory of our youth. It will ever open the door for a journey of sentiment through the past. The door is open; turn the page.

Class Poem

COMMENCEMENT — 1942

Once more the voice of youth we speak,
"Pray God, that we may ever seek
The truth. We now go forth to brave
The storm of life; a life you gave
That we may do our best in serving you."

The strains of martial music sound
A few will hear, will leave the ground
They love, to visit far-off lands
That sorely need their willing hands
To win the war for our democracy.

We cannot all achieve great fame.
Yet humble works are judged the same
By you. The parting gift we pledge
In leaving to pursue new knowledge
In faith, and love, and trust in righteousness.

MARY ELLEN SULLIVAN

Class Song

A SONG AT GRADUATION

Our Alma Mater glorious, the day to part is here
Our years with thee abide in me
With mem'ries ever dear.
And now we meet the challenge, to keep our country free,
We gladly take our part in this
Great good fight for freedom
So guide us on our pathway
To go with valiant heart
To bring to all, to give to all
True liberty, democracy, the goal—for which our fathers fought.

CLASS HISTORY

From pig-tails to pompadours and from knee-pants to knickers, the future graduates of the class of 1942 stepped hopefully into the halls of Cambridge High and Latin School four years ago. We were an exceptionally large class, so we were told, of nearly a thousand specimens of thoroughly scared, gaping adolescence. But after the first few frightening weeks, we realized that we had suddenly become definitely aged and experienced Freshmen, that the limitless corridors were no longer a winding maze to us, and that C. H. L. S. wasn't so monstrous, after all! We considered OURS a distinctive class that year. We had been the only freshmen class at this school ever to experience that freak of nature, the hurricane; we were the first freshman class ever to begin school at 1:00 in the afternoon and to finish at the exhausting hour of 4:00. While the old English Building was being torn down outside our windows, we recited Latin declensions, algebraic equations, and other such mystifying subjects. Oh, how those drills grated on our nerves during the endless afternoons as we shouted above the roar! The only consolation we could see was that we should inevitably attend the promised school.

Although the disadvantage of the two sessions prevented any intimacies with the upper classmen, we discovered that we could find time to dash into the meetings of the Dramatic Club, G. A. A., and jitter-bug sessions on the piano in the old hall before the bell rang at noon. The girls realized the fun of the "Boy-Girl" dances in the gym, the aspiration of the G. A. A. Formal of the coming year, and the absolute "sophistication" with which make-up furnished us. The boys discovered that many lengthy conversations could be completed during those prolonged trips to the gym at Rindge, and that the "jive" and bright socks were "the thing."

And so our memorable freshman year passed on, filled with Talent Nights, Caroling at Christmas, dances, football games, Saturday at the hockey games; and hovering departmentals and terms tests with their never-ending torments. Finally, we found the doors opening to a new world: we were Sophomores!

Oh "Wise fools" that we were, not so wise as foolish; we waited only for the days when we might be upper classmen. How could we know that English "Lit" would present itself in even greater quantities than in this sophomore year? How could we realize that Skipper's Latin would be more of a struggle even than Caesar? To offset these grievances, came the long-hoped for G. A. A. Formal, over which many of us spent hours of torturing forethought, and after which several imaginative souls wrote themes with a thought to the ridiculous. We found that this year we were the fortunates—no more afternoon sessions for us—we were finished at 12.30. And did we sympathize with the Freshmen tramping in as we floated out! This year, instead of the "old" being torn down, the new building was shooting up with startling speed; the time, too, shot by with amazing velocity. But before the year had gone too far, the beloved Master of sophomore boys, Mr. Bliss, passed away. This was a shock to the whole school, both teachers and pupils. Mr. Bliss had been at the school for so many years and everyone had such a deep affection for him that it was hard to realize that we should see him no more.

Despite this shock, however, the year flew by and before we knew it, we were Juniors. We returned from vacation to find the new building completed, lockers to wrestle with, and walls "not to spot." In that year of '40-'41, we found out what work really is: instead of descriptive English themes, we discovered that we were expected to have deep thoughts on subjects like "Clouds" or "Trifles." Sight translations in Latin pounced on us with no warning, and reams of typewriter paper piled up on desks. All in all, we were immersed in homework with which most of us spent the majority of our now valuable time—valuable because now the days sped by and time was all too scanty. Even the piano sessions in the old hall became fewer and far between.

Then one eventful day we began to see resplendant posters, drawn by our contemporaries, tacked on every wall, in every corridor, and in every conceivable nook—posters which proclaimed the virtues of a possible junior president, treasurer, and secretary. When the campaign and voting were over, we saw that we had elected Paul O'Rourke as president, "Dutchie" Gaynor as vice-president, Barbara Nauffts as secretary, and Stanley Burak as treasurer. A week before the Junior Prom we discovered what a "forceful and dynamic personality" we had chosen as our president. Paul O'Rourke gave a talk in the new hall on buying tickets for the prom—a talk which truly made the dance the success that it was. And then strangely enough the year was over. A little sad, a little glad, we waited for the next year and knew with a terrible certainty that we should be seniors! Many changes occurred during the summer. However, life went on much the same at school. Elections came and were more heated than ever. Paul O'Rourke was again chosen as president; Barbara Nauffts as secretary; Dorothy Reardon as treasurer; and Rocks Leary as vice-president. Elections over, it all started: pictures at Vantines, rings, caps and gowns, assemblies on Wednesday, senior questionnaire, "Review", year book, senior reception, and graduation. Supplementing these were term tests, compulsory seventh periods, scholastic aptitudes (no college boards); Senior Drama, "The Late Christopher Beane", which was a huge success due to Madeline Birmingham, Peggy Ford, Mary Buckley, Jane Hayes, Frank Curran, Bill Conlan, Frank DiGioia, Stanley Davin, and William Sullivan; and Dramatic Club Festival at Emerson College, which we won with the help of "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals."

Now as we find the year slipping from beneath us, we leave with regret and ill-concealed sorrow, the halls of Cambridge High and Latin School. We see ahead many years of tentative hardship and labor, but does it daunt us? Oh no! We feel certain that the training which we have received here supplemented by that which we shall receive either in college or in the business world will help to guide us through our long lives.

To our deep regret, when we returned, we found that Mr. Cleveland, our principal for so many years, had resigned his position as headmaster, Mr. Downey, former Master of freshmen boys, received the appointment of Headmaster of the school. Another major change was the fact that England was at war with Germany! However etc.

As seniors, now, we wish to thank profoundly Mr. Cleveland, our former Principal; Mr. Downey, our new Headmaster; our Deans and Masters; Miss Walsh for her recent patience; and all our learned teachers for their guidance through these years at Cambridge High and Latin School.

DRAMATIC CLUB NOTES

MARIE BUCKLEY

One of the most successful years in the history of our Dramatic Club is now drawing to a close,—a year to be remembered by all, as glorious in its plays, dances, and honors! Many assemblies were brightened by Dramatic Club performances—especially at Thanksgiving, Christmas, Patriots' Day, and countless other holidays.

For the past few years, we have not had a SHAKESPEARIAN AFTER-NOON, but this year, to the joy of all, Hamlet, Macbeth and Taming of the Shrew, were presented for the school. The actors and actresses were well rewarded for their tireless efforts by the enthusiastic response of an appreciative audience. Another new addition to our club this year was the initiation of a make-up course, under the capable supervision of Miss O'Keefe.

Our members were invited to several plays at Tufts, Emerson, and The New England Conservatory. Three girls in the Dramatic Club were asked to take the feminine roles in the Rindge Senior Drama, this year.

The long-awaited Spring Formal finally arrived on April 17th and was enthusiastically received by the whole student body, whom we wish to thank for their generous support. The proceeds were used for our scholarship fund.

The year came to a grand climax when our club shared top honors with Revere High School at the Massachusetts Drama Festival, of which our beloved Miss Hartigan was Chairman. Our play was "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals", by James M. Barrie.

SENIOR DRAMA NOTES

MARIE BUCKLEY

In true Senior Drama tradition, the weather on the night of February 6th was stormy, but spirits were high, and the parents, friends and faculty of the Cambridge High and Latin School crowded the Leslie L. Cleveland Auditorium to witness the dramatic efforts of our senior class.

The play was "The Late Christopher Bean", by Sidney Howard, and the Class of 1942 lovingly dedicated its presentation to its new Headmaster, Mr. Timothy F. Downey.

SYNOPSIS

A painter named Christopher Bean had died in a New England village, leaving only a few dusty canvasses to pay Dr. Haggett for his care and lodging. It was a mild surprise to Dr. Haggett and his family when an old friend of Bean dropped in and paid Christopher's bill, and took away only a couple of pictures as mementos. It was a bigger surprise when another friend of Bean arrived on a similar errand; and the biggest of all, when a great New York art critic came to pay his respects to the memory of the dead artist. It was overwhelming when they learned that Christopher Bean's daubs were worth a fortune—and how the family scurried to find them!

In the scramble, one was found in the chicken house; another had been used by a daughter of the house as a background for one of her paintings; and another, a portrait of Abbey, was found hanging in Abbey's room.

DRAMA COMMITTEE
Pierce, Fillias, Coughlin, Faulkner

The scene was laid in the dining room of the Haggett's house, not far from Boston.

Francis Curran portrayed Dr. Haggett wonderfully. Peggy Ford, our wittiest student, superbly—and hilariously—played Mrs. Haggett. Madeline Birmingham, as the lovable, sympathetic Abbey, appealed to the emotions of the audience, and gave a sterling performance. Jane Hayes gave a splendid character performance as Ada, the spoiled daughter of the family.

What is a play without romance? Marie Buckley and Bill Conlan, midst blushes galore, were Susan Haggett, younger member of the family, and Warren Creamer, young artist, respectively. With Abbey's aid, against the wishes of the Haggett family, they eloped.

Bill Sullivan admirably played Mr. Davenport, art critic, complete even to his goatee. The villains, really dishonest art dealers, were skillfully enacted by Stanley Davin, as Tallant, and Frank DiGioia, as Rosen.

Those who served on the Drama Committee, and who helped immeasurably to make it a success, were: Doris Coughlin, Chairman, Elizabeth Faulkner, Constance Fillios, Dorothy Pierce, and William Smith.

Everyone agreed that he was well rewarded for having ventured out into the stormy weather by the excellent performance.

May we take this opportunity to express our deepest gratitude to Miss Hartigan, our Director, and her able assistants, Miss O'Keefe and Miss Canney, and to Mr. Bramhall, without whose never-ending advice the drama would never have been so great a success as it was.

Class Prophecy

Good afternoon, Ladies and Gentlemen: This is John Varasse at the Hotel Commander, Cambridge, Mass., where the class of 1942, Cambridge High and Latin School, is holding its Tenth Reunion. The whole nation has been eagerly awaiting this momentous event which brings together some of the nations outstanding personalities. I see now that Herman Medoff, campaign manager for Doctor Paul F. O'Rourke, Junior Senator from Massachusetts, has finally been successful in wrenching away a turkey drumstick from the Senator and has induced him to rise. I now turn you over to Senator O'Rourke, who, as class president, will introduce the various people of the class.

"Laaydees and Gentlemen, I am indeed honored to be given the privilege of—Don't look so worried Mr. Gadsby, I do not intend to give you a political speech—the privilege of introducing so many famous people. Without further words, I shall begin the introductions. I will request that you refrain from applause, since Mr. Ed Culhane, manager of the Hotel, has informed me that this hall is not built to resist vibrations and furthermore that it has been condemned by Charles Mallahan, city building inspector. Beside me sits the country's outstanding authority on music, Julian L. Moynahan, music critic of the New York Times, who recently declared that Francis Sullivan's 3rd Hibernian Symphony in double G. flat major, is the greatest composition ever written. Next to him I see Joe Bushee who has lately defeated, in a bruising bout, Sam Zadoorian for the flyweight championship of the world. With him is Armand Neri, his manager and Ed Kilbashian, manager of the Madison Sq. Gardens, who is watching out for Joe's foot which has been operated on by Doctor George Footsie Guild, world specialist on the 3rd toe of the right foot. Joe hurt his foot by having it stamped on by Zadoorian, who was attempting to make Joe remove his foot from a half dollar thrown in the ring by playboy Mel Andelman, an appreciative spectator. Referee Bill Chase escaped with far less serious injuries in the mob riot which ensued, breaking only four ribs and fracturing his nose and left leg. Over in the corner I see a table of moviedom's outstanding stars: Madeline Birmingham, who has made popular Shakespearian plays on the screen, Eleanor Quinn, stand-in for Joan Davis, glamorous Katherine Patselelis, Phyllis Clarkin, talented dramatic actress, and that handsome lover of the day, Bill "Oomph Boy" Conlin.

At the same table with these, we must not forget Lorena Duquette, New York actress, and that famous model, Ruth Alex. Ruth, whose clothes are copied by women all over the world, was recently voted the best dressed woman in New York. Here, too we should mention Betty Sullivan, famous designer, who is responsible for many of Ruth's stylish clothes. Seated at the next table—Excuse me, ladies and gentlemen, but a very great man has just entered the banquet hall. May I greet Colonel Fred Johnson, the BIGGEST man in the U. S. Army.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH & LATIN SCHOOL

who has just flown from Tokio, where he is maintaining a severe and highly effective military government. With him are Admiral Laurence Miller, Commander of the Far East Fleet, Vice Admiral Warren Johnson, Chief of Staff Frederick Panazer, and assistant cabin boy aboard the U. S. S. Bilewater, Aaron Krute. Gentlemen, your reception committee awaits you at the head table. Next are Elizabeth Morris, Chairman of the Mass. State Republican Committee, Patricia Dias, head of Cambridge League of Women Voters, and Sylvia Pilch, house minority leader from Nevada. I should like now, to introduce some of the leading figures in the sports world. James Cooke—spelled with an e, breaker of Jesse Owens 100 yard dash record by 3.9 seconds; Coke barely beat out speedy John Stathopolous in this race. At the same table, from left to right, Arthur Shea, 8 times winner of the BAA marathon, Billy Hayes, 1950 Golden Gloves champ, Al Toscano, goalie of the New York Rangers, and Red "Masher" McSoreley, his teammate, who was voted the Lady Ring Trophy for the game's most gentlemanly player, John Gentile, speed airplane pilot, Normie "Screwball" Traynor, who won 42 games for the Yankees last year, and battling chief contender for Joe Louis' heavy weight crown, which has been defended by Joe recently for the 291st time, Joe "Iron-muscles" Gadsby. We must not leave out Margaret Ford, captain of the Women's National Basketball Team, and the star forward on the same team, Rhoda Cummings. Over in the shadow there, trying to look modest about it all is Marion Lyons, who has twice captured the International Women's Fancy Diving Trophy. With her I see Janet Atkinson who has managed to stop here on her skating tour, just in time for our reunion. Also, I cannot leave out Anne Sullivan and Alice Donovan, the inseparable pair, who have distinguished themselves in the field of tennis. And who could forget Mary Ellen Sullivan, that girl-about-town? I don't see Mary right at the moment, but she, no doubt, is in the lobby, smoking a cigarette. However, ask her, and she'll remark innocently, "I didn't did it." Jane Hayes, here tonight, too, has distinguished herself by her original proverbs—and I do mean original. Mary Russell that pretty blonde I see over in the corner, is I hear, married to an Iowa doctor. Another case of marital happiness is that of Barbara Stone, who has taken the trip from Cuba, with her husband, a Cuban millionaire, just to be with us tonight. Over at the left hand side of the hall sits the nucleus of the intelligence of America. Among the eminent authors, are "Eppie" Dowling and Mary Cotter, who have just completed, under joint authorship, "The Evolution of Boogie Woogie." Charming Dorothy Shea has just finished her latest thriller, "Cemetery Ridge." Kathryn Ahern, seated next to Dorothy, has published her book of essays, "Fads and Fancies." Present here tonight, too, are Associate Professor of Special Relations at M. I. T., A. Kenneth O'Donaghue, Prof. Theodore Calianos, head of the Latin Department at Oshgosh University, Pueblo, N.M., Reverend Edward Edwards, professor of Theology at Harvard Theological School, and Prof. Charles Daskalos, former Gaelic and Scandinavian interpreter from U. of S. C.—director of Western Union in Massachusetts. Murray Rosenberg, has just ridden to the head table on his bicycle and handed me two telegrams, which I shall read:

CAMBRIDGE HIGH & LATIN SCHOOL

"Regret that I shall be late for reunion stop. Some minor difficulty over my $10,000,000 deal with the Rodriques Finger Bowl Company and the Jenkins Broken Toe Insurance Co. stop. Am confident that my lawyer, William Smith, will outsmart Judge John Stokes, whom Rodriques hired to judge the hearing stop. Signed—Thomas Rocks Leary.

"Also I should say here that I received a telephone call from Frank Curran this afternoon. He found it impossible to attend the reunion, as he is acting tonight in a play by Florence Cobb, "The Man Who Cooked the Brunch" co-starring himself and Marie Buckley, who plays the part of a South American chorus girl. Absent tonight, too, are Dorothy Corcoran, Barbara Nauffts, and Anne Conway. These girls are now in the sunny clime of Florida, competing with beauties from all over the country for the title of "Miss America." Good luck, girls! Judging this contest is Hugh Bartley, who has been a judge of 154 beauty contests down there in the past 8 years. "I have found a life," he says, "that is ideal for my temperament."

Down in the back of the hall, making all the racket with the firecrackers, is William Scannell, who is chief noise maker in the 52 Edition of "Helzapoppin." At the next table, are some alumni from the school itself, John Sheehan, Headmaster, who has just sent a bill to the school committee, which consists of Edmund Traknis, Anne Cahill, Doris Mahoney, Phyllis Grenier, and Frances Young. (Camb. Women, especially the class of '42, go in for politics in a big way). Anyway, the bill asks for the appointment of William Sullivan for the Head of Dramatics in Cambridge, Miss Betty Doyle as Art Director, and Mary McDonnell as the head of the English Department. I wish to stop here to thank Miss Mary O'Neil for the 250 pound box of candy which she sent me from New York where she is busily engaged in directing the new Fanny Farmer stores all over the country. I have another telegram here which just arrived: 'Greetings from Western Idaho. I have just raised a bumper crop of potatoes of which I am sending you 20 tons stop. Vivian Stanley, my assistant, is an expert at irrigation stop. I have just discovered that rotation of crops gives one a balanced diet stop. Best Wishes—Signed—Eva Schiffer.' Now back to the introductions—Claire Hirshberg, a bacteriologist, at the first table from the platform, has just announced her latest discovery. Spring Fever, she says, is due to a bacteria carried around by the June Bug. Next to her is Doris Coughlin, a biology research worker. Don't be surprised if Doris should pull a cardavar out from under this table after her meal, and set to work cutting it up. That's all for now ladies and gentlemen. I'm hungry. Thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for your kind attention. Don't forget to vote for me in the next election."

This is John Varrasse, speaking to you again. It is the sincere hope of the management that you have enjoyed yourselves here, and that the Hotel Commander may have the pleasure of your company at your twenty-fifth reunion in 1967.

REVIEW

This year's Review was the greatest in the history of our school. Its circulation was far higher than last year's and the quality of its literary material was the finest ever presented to its appreciative public. The literary staff was composed of the outstanding array of writing talent of the senior class, capably assisted by its efficient business and advertising staff, prominent among whom were Murray Rosenberg, Melvin Andelman, and Elliot Comenitz.

Its distinguished Editor, Paul O'Rourke, carried out his arduous tasks aided by the expert advice and experience of his talented assistant Julian Moynahan. The staff wishes to extend its gratitude to Miss Kelly, faculty adviser for her kind assistance, cooperation, and patronage in the selection of material. Special mention must be given to Mary Sullivan of the literary staff for her dexterous manipulation of paste pot and scissors in the set-up of the Review.

The staff leaves its best wishes to the class of '43 with the sincere hope that they may maintain the Review at its present high standard of achievement.

K. B. NOTES

Another year of bustling activity is coming to an end, but not to be forgotten. The 17th of October was the date of the formal initiation of nine juniors and twelve seniors, increasing the group to thirty-six members. From the first of the club year, it was decided that we should do more in the line of charity; thus we took up knitting, sewing, and the making of dressings for the Red Cross. These activities continued throughout the year. When Thanksgiving was "just around the corner," the girls decided to bring in food and money to enable the club to give a basket to a needy family.

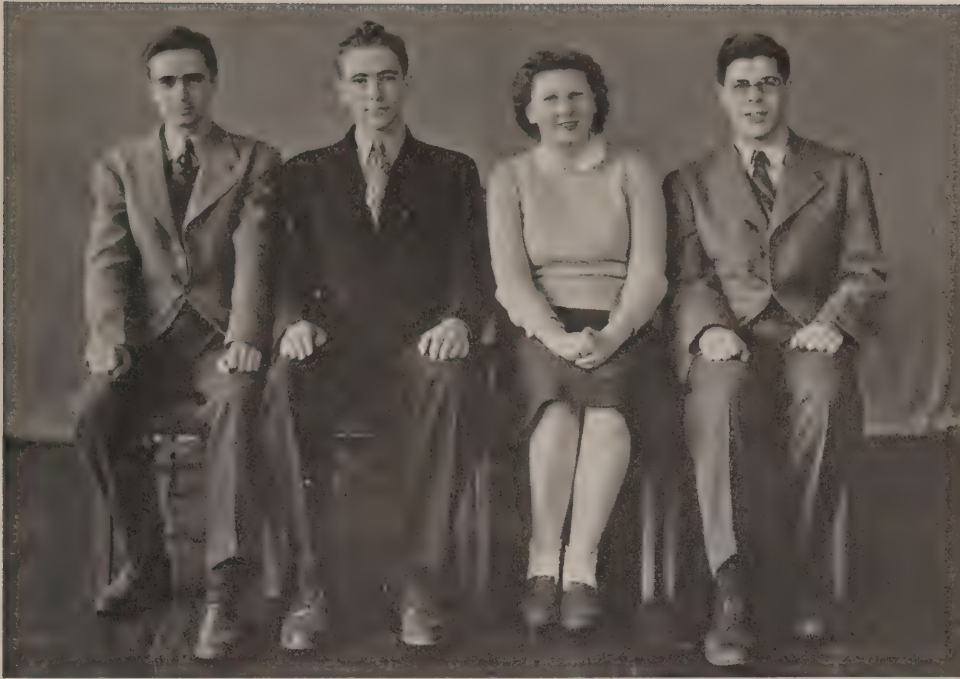

Following Thanksgiving, each and every girl took an active part in getting ready for the annual Winter Formal, which, we are proud to say, was the most successful of all the dances given thus far by K. B.

This year the girls turned toward swimming and bowling as means of recreation, and a most successful "Splash Party" was held in the Harvard Pool.

Again, as last year, the K. B. girls were joined by Dramatic Club girls in selling candy at the Senior Drama in order to swell the treasury of the Senior Class.

Now with the future bringing a formal dance given for the club members and their escorts, and a party given by the juniors for the seniors at which the officers for next year are to be elected, we are getting ready to bid farewell to Miss McElroy and Miss Buckley, our advisors, who have guided us through a most interesting year, and our officers. Betty Morris, President, and Mary Faulkner, Secretary-Treasurer, who have given us a year full of "work and play."

All there is left to say now is that the K. B. of 1942 wishes the K. B. of future years as much joy and success as it had.

DEBATING CLUB OFFICERS
Sullivan, Stokes, Green, Kaminsky

THE DURRELL DEBATING SOCIETY

The Durrell Debating Society has just completed a very successful debate season under its capable officers who led the club throughout the year:

President	William Sullivan
Vice-President	Eli Kaminsky
Secretary	Barbara Greene
Treasurer	John Stokes

The teams dealt successfully with their opponents from Revere, Somerville, and Rindge. Those who took part in debates this year were—Eli Kaminsky, John Loufborrough, Thomas Donahue, Edmund Lafferty, Rosalind Stearns, Walter Cremens, John Stokes and William Sullivan.

The National Debate League subject discussed this year was namely RESOLVED: That every able-bodied male citizen of the United States under twenty years of age should receive one year of full time compulsory military training. The affirmative was upheld by John Stokes, Eli Kaminsky, and John Loufborrough; the negative by Walter Cremens, William Sullivan and Walter Martin.

The season was brought to a close with the annual Durrell Prize Debate held in the Cleveland Auditorium at the end of April.

To the undergraduates, we who are seniors leave a cooperative and kindly Headmaster, Mr. Downey, an able Oral English staff headed by Miss Hartigan, and a promising crop of new debaters.

We cannot part without expressing our deep gratitude to our Faculty adviser, Miss Canney, who always has been gracious and willing in the giving of her assistance, and under whom our followers will find capable guidance.

CHESS CLUB

CHESS NOTES

The Chess Club team had a most unfavorable season this year, as compared to other years teams. Its entries in "The Greater-Boston-Inter-scholastic-League" won two games, tied one, and lost five. This record, however, can be charged to the inexperience of its players, as there were nine new-comers, out of a possible ten, on the team.

The players who impressed this writer as showing sparks of future improvement, and becoming good chess players were Howard Smolar, '45, James O'Brien, '45, Arnold Schutzberg, '45, Melvin Mahlowitz, '45, Robert Brown, '45, George Perutz, '43, Ernest Dhjendolet, '43, and Marvin Mahlowitz, '45.

The teams two entries in the G. B. I. C. L's. annual tournament at the Huntington School, on April 17, were Howard Smolar, '45 and James Atkins. Smolar won none and lost three in his group, while Atkins won two and lost one in his group. Neither of the two reached the finals however.

We hope to have a championship team next year, and should have with the number of team members coming back to C. H. L. S. that there are. Best of Luck to the Chess Team of '43 from the players of '42.

G. A. A. OFFICERS

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

With pleasant memories of the many happy hours spent in joyful activities, the G. A. A. season of 1942 comes to a close. Each and every officer is worthy of praise, particularly since this year's group was confronted by circumstances unheard of in G. A. A. history. Foremost of these difficulties was the request to refrain from all evening activities, but, undaunted, the officers attempted very successfully to fulfill their oath, and "give happiness to all" by undertaking several new sports. Among these sports was golf, which was enthusiastically managed by Marjorie Kelley, champion and proud possessor of many medals.

Executive officer June Becker, to our extreme regret, felt that duties at home required a great deal of her time, and resigned; we were indeed fortunate in gaining Marjorie Kelley to take June's place.

Among the few evening activities was the G. A. A. Formal, which proved to be the most successful dance, financially as well as socially, ever conducted by the G. A. A. The highlight of the evening was the awarding of the traditional "Beau of the Ball" trophy to Charles Lynch. We have just been informed that, war conditions allowing, the annual Spring Informal will be held at the Commander Hotel on May 8. The officers are working with redoubled energy to make this affair just as much of a fun fest as were the Freshmen and Christmas Parties.

Walking hikes were conducted by Sylvia Piltch, who has been an executive officer for the past three years, and who will graduate with three other Senior officers, Anne Cahill, Olga Zacharchuk, and Patricia Dias. The spring bike hikes received the usual support of the upperclassmen as well as the younger members, who pedaled along singing and chatting in the friendly G. A. A. manner.

The annual picnic at Kendall Green promises to be a very gay time and to bring to a close this happy season of good fun by the installation of next year's officers. In closing, I wish to express a deep appreciation to Miss Brown, whose friendly advice greatly aided the officers through many a difficult experience.

JUNIOR RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

This year has seen a constant growth of activity among the students enrolled in the various units of the Junior Red Cross. Knitting Groups have produced hundreds of warm sweaters and mittens. Sewing Units have made scores of attractive little dresses. Other sections have been devoting hours of their free time each week to making Surgical Dressings and to studying the intricacies of First Aid. Still others have been hard at work mastering the art of preparing food in Canteen quantities in anticipation of emergency needs. Artists among us have provided highly meritorious posters furthering the interest of Defense Stamp sales, Victory Book collectors, and Air Raid Precaution classes. From Arts and Crafts has come some charming metal work in the form of flower containers for hospital use. More than seven hundred students led by seventy-five teachers have participated in these activities. All in all, the Cambridge High and Latin School Junior Red Cross Unit, under the able direction of Miss Alice A. Ward, has made a contribution of which we may well be proud.

Varsity Basketball

Kelly, Miss Brown, Manning, Warner,

Senior Basketball

The Senior Basketball Team of 1942, expertly led by those friendly co-captains Geraldine "Dinah" Riley and Peg Ford, consisted of Dorothy Botelho, Doris Forte, Sylvia Piltch, Ruth Putnam, Marion Warner, and Sylvia Laurence.

Although our team had one of its unluckiest years this season, losing to both Somerville and Waltham, the fine spirited group displayed great skill in the Alumnae game. This final game of the year is always eagerly awaited because it brings such hilarious and unexpected results. This year was not an exception—we witnessed short "Silly" Piltch guarding, or at least attempting to guard a graduate at least six feet tall! We also saw "Dinah" Riley's sporting attempts to gain a free shot, not in the usual way, for this game is never played in the usual manner, but with a huge pair of white gloves which completely enveloped her hands and wrists, not to mention her elbows. The many merry highlights of the game were discussed in detail while the girls were enjoying the ice cream served by the G. A. A. officers, Faith Webster and Patricia Dias.

The Seniors are duly proud of the fact that they can play each and every position on the floor as expertly as their own position. The interclass game was evidence of this. Guards played forwards, and forwards guards, but the Seniors emerged triumphant from the merry maze of mixed positions. Thus they become the owners of highly coveted silver basketballs donated by the G. A. A. and bearing the player's initial.

This enthusiastic group of girls deserves praise for the fine spirit of sportsmanship they leave behind them, and the grand example they have set for next year's team.

SWIMMING TEAM

SWIMMING

Swimming was ardently supported this year by a group of about thirty-five girls. Although the size diminished, as the year progressed, for many girls patriotically joined Red Cross and other war-time classes, the spirit of fun increased!

The Seniors were sadly outnumbered in the interclass meet, with the result that the Freshmen emerged triumphant from the watery depths of the "Y" pool. Regardless of this defeat, we are eagerly and hopefully anticipating a victory against Somerville. Mary White's diving, combined with the excellent swimming of Marion Lyons and Betty Sullivan, not to mention the many fine swimmers of the other teams, should certainly aid us greatly in conquering our opponents.

Bystanders witnessed weekly aquatic displays of diving by several enthusiastic Freshmen. Mary Messenger's hilarious attempts to perfect a jack-knife dive, and Pat Shea's beautiful swan dives, were very inspiring to other less accomplished members.

With such promising ability among the Freshmen, and the fine instruction of Mr. Perdyne, our future teams should enjoy many successful meets. May we sincerely wish next year's group as much fun as the 1942 Team enjoyed this past winter.

OUTING CLUB

TENNIS

Early this season, the Doubles Tennis Tournament opened with a large number of fine spirited contenders, all secretly desirous of becoming medal winners. Katherine Schneider and Jane Thorne proved themselves superior to the rest, and to the applause of the entire G. A. A. membership, five hundred strong, received their hard earned and well deserved medals. Tennis enthusiasts are now eagerly awaiting the singles which will be played this spring.

Among the many new activities this year, were roller skating and golf. Champion Marjorie Kelley, G. A. A. officer, conducted golfing classes, with the aid of her own teacher. Many eager girls benefited from this instruction, and perhaps will prove themselves champions in next year's meets.

Roller skating, under the leadership of two G. A. A. officers, Anne Cahill and Olga Zacharchuk, was an activity which resulted in many unexpected and hilarious events! The undignified positions of amateurs Anne, and Pat Dias, will long be recalled by the smooth skating G. A. A. members, who sailed by with shouts of laughter at the struggling officers. Even though this sport was not competitive, it certainly was entertaining.

FOOTBALL TEAM

The football team had one of the most disastrous years in the history of the school. This was not due to the coaching staff or to the players, but to insufficient reserve power and the many injuries which disrupted the team. Notable among the injuries were three broken ribs suffered by Captain-Elect Chuck Darling, and a broken arm by Dutchie Gaynor, regular end. Although beaten badly in some games, Latin gave the school something to rave about when after holding a highly touted Rindge team scoreless for three periods, they finally succumbed to a 6-0 victory.

Much credit is due these boys: Captain Sammy Zadoorian, a fighting player and a great leader; Red Hughes and Ralph Fratto, two stellar guards; Joe Linehan and Joe Bushee, who held down the tackle slots; Booty Doolin, George Spartichino and Jack Sheehan, three boys who were always in the ball game; Cut Coutoumas, who played practically every position; Rocks Leary, a good quarterback; Art Shea, Stan Brinkerhoff, and Maurie Martel, three fine blockers; Chick McManus, who picked up our yardage; and Bob McSorley, who was hampered by a knee injury.

Zadoorian, McManus, Gaynor, and Leary received mention on "All Star" teams. Besides these four, the lettermen were Doolin, Darling, Linehan, Bushee, Shea, Spartichino, Fratto, Coutoumas, Wadden, Toscano, McSorley, Sullivan and Hughes.

BASEBALL TEAM

BASEBALL

This year's team is trying to duplicate last year's nine by winning the Suburban League Championship. With the aid of Coach "Sonny" Foley and Captain Al Toscano, the boys seem to be headed for another crown. The pitching staff, composed of Bill Reardon, Jim Bloomquist and Johnnie Murphy is eager to go aided by Rocks Leary and George Sullivan. Captain Al Toscano is the first string receiver. At first base is Sammy Capabianco; while Bob Heavern and Joe Agnetta make up one of the classiest high school keystone combinations in Greater Boston. Richie Ernest, veteran third socker, is again cavorting around the hot corner. The outfield is composed of veterans Sammy Zadoorian, Cut Coutoumas, Dutchie Gaynor, Maurie Martel and rookie Jim Feloney. Bill Maher, Dick Aylward, Sabatino and Ottiviona are utility men. Lettermen include: Captain Toscano, Reardon, Alyward, Martel, Coutoumas, Maher, Feloney, Murphy, Gaynor, Bloomquist, Leary, Ernest, Sullivan and Ottiviano.

HOCKEY TEAM

HOCKEY

The hockey team gave a very creditable account of itself although only two veterans returned from last year's squad. Much credit is due Coach "Jack" Culhane, Co-Captains "Rocks" Leary and "Bill" Maher. These three put on the ice a team worthy of wearing the school's name. There were only three seniors in this year's lineup. "Al" Toscano played the goal, and was placed on the second "All" Scholastic Team. Co-Captains Maher and "Bob" McSorley manned the defense; the first line featured "Bill" Reardon and Co-Captain Leary on the wings, and "Bob" Heavern at centre-ice. Reardon and Heavern were picked for the first and second "All" Scholastic Teams respectively. "Fred" Whouley, "Jazz" Curtin, "Bob" Leary, Mannix, "Bob" Boland were the outstanding reserves. R. Leary, McSorley, Toscano, and Boland will be missed because of graduation. The lettermen include: Co-Captains Leary and Maher, Reardon, Heavern, Toscano, Mannix, Whouley, Boland, Foster, Feloney, McSorley, and Connors.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Hooker, Peck

Second row, left to right: Horan, Bolduc, Cardillo, Horanesian, Smith, Sabatino, Burns, Zadoorian

First row, left to right: Mahoney, Donahue, Agnetta, Guild, Aylward,
Olsen, Fratto

BASKETBALL

Coach Pete Igo had only two veterans from last year, but molded a fine squad about Richie Aylward, sophomore center sensation, and Captain George Guild, a magnificent guard. Ralph Fratto, the famous foot-baller played the other guard. Joe Agnetta and Nil Olsen took care of the forward positions. Captain George Guild has been a letterman for four years, and deserves much praise. These regulars and the following reserves received their letters: Mahoney, Murphy, Zadoorian and Donahue. The basketball quintet won eight of their fifteen games, which made it a fairly successful season. Guild, Fratto, Zadoorian and Donahue are graduating this year.

TRACK

This past year, the track team won considerable success. The relay team defeated all opponents in the Seaboard Carnival, the State and Andover Meets. Chase and McDavitt, Cooke and Pimensky formed the relay team. The individual stars were: J. Cooke, a good dash and 300 yard man, Pimensky and Co-Captain Chase in the 600, Art Shea, long distance star, Leo Hollisian in the 1000, and Co-Captain McDavitt, who high jumped and ran the dashes. Dutchie Gaynor was the main contender in the shot-put. Co-Captains Chase and McDavitt have been two fine leaders and congratulations to them are in order. The lettermen were: Co-Captains Chase and McDavitt, Sullivan, Hollisian, Gaynor, Shea, Cooke, Pimensky, and Sweeney.

Class Will

We, the class of 1942, the party of the first part, do proclaim before distinguished witnesses, by the sword of Mars and the trident of Neptune, that we do make this scroll to be our last Will and Testament. The witnesses will testify for our soundness of mind in spite of our lackadaisical nature.

To the faculty in general, we leave all the happiness left on the earth and the fond wish that they may live to see the world again at peace. As the books, the chairs, the desks, etc., have been left by so many other classes in their respective wills, we simply bequeath the new layer of dirt that has formed, and as a further token of our esteem, we leave all the treasures to be found in our clogged up inkwells.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH & LATIN SCHOOL

To the faculty in particular, in the order named, we donate the following, to wit:

To Mr. Downey: Many years as principal of C. H. L. S.

To Miss McElroy: A copy of Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People," for use in her charm class.

To Mr. Bramhall: A batch of plump red apples.

To Mr. Sateriale: A "Victory" suit, to add to his collection.

To Mr. McKenna: A balanced equation.

To Mrs. Colson: One cut-rate electron.

To Miss Ford: A subscription to "Le Petit Journal."

To Miss Butler: The new issue of "Famous Funnies."

To Miss Huling: A peek into the future, to keep her from guessing.

To Mr. Derry: A new Latin joke book.

To Miss Davey: The front seat of a tandem; the rear one to be used by Miss Hogan.

To the Juniors, we leave our empty wallets, after paying for class rings, G. A. A. and K. B. formals, caps and gowns, our pictures, and this year book.

To the Sophomores, we leave the Junior class, by the Grace of God and the generosity of the teachers.

To the Freshmen, we leave the brand Sophomore; "sopho" meaning wise, and "more" meaning fool, or in plain English "wise fool."

Our task finished, we take leave of you and depart from these hallowed halls.

Signed,

Epilogue

Another chapter in our lives is ended. Caught in the binding of this book, are our friends—their laughter and tears, their successes and failures. Here are the most carefree moments of our lives—our youth, which we now regretfully surrender for the responsibilities of maturity.

As we go forth into the vast uncertainty of the future, let us ever carry with us the belief that ours is the American way of life and by this standard shall we place our imprint in the book of time.
